

EMPRESS SHOW WAS VERY GOOD

The Empress show at the Lyric theatre, April 21, was good. Reddington & Grant, the bounding tramps opened the performance and bounded about in a way that soon had the large audience in a good humor. Then came Charles and Sally Dunbar in a laughable bit of nonsense which they call "Animal Funology." It was all of that and then some. They were great favorites with their audience. Frevol, the shadowgraph artist followed with some very clever shadow pictures. This artist works different from the usual vaudeville act of this kind, in that he is always in plain view and the audience can see the shadowgraphs and also see how they are produced. Balaban, the misleading musical marvel, while perhaps not very misleading, seemed musically inclined, he has a falsetto voice of good range and training, and knew how to wear ladies clothes and altogether was nice to look upon. The Juggling Parrots, a man, woman and a dog, juggled a few things cleverly, pulled a few old gags, and wore some awful clothes. They were really amusing. A couple of good films were shown.

OUR AMBIGUOUS TONGUE

An elderly farmer drove into town one day and hitched his team to a telegraph post.

"Here!" exclaimed a burly policeman, "you can't hitch there!"

"Can't hitch!" shouted the irate farmer. "Well, why have you got a sign up, 'Fine for hitching?'"

STUDENTS DO USEFUL WORK

Thursday was "A" day at the Utah Agricultural College. It is an annual event and celebrated by the doing of some useful work about the college, and is observed in honor of founders' day, the day when Governor Heber M. Wells signed the bill prepared by the Legislative Assembly accepting the terms of the national law which provided for a perpetual fund, the interest to be used in maintaining an agricultural college. The day is celebrated as near the exact date, March 8, as the weather will permit. President Widtsoe is responsible for the plan that some useful work be accomplished on this day instead of methods used by other institutions. Two years ago cement walks were put in around the college campus, last year a fence was built around Adams field and yesterday most of the work consisted in constructing a quarter mile cinder track on Adams field. The old track and baseball diamond was also put in tip-top shape. The faculty put in ten cement steps at a steep part of the hill just below the Smart gymnasium. The women of the institution prepared lunch for the men.

Practically every student and faculty member reported for work at 8:30 a. m. and stayed with it until 4 in the afternoon. A student body court has been selected to mete out judgment to those who sluffed.

Rock Island Minority Stockholders Are Planning Measures to Finance Road

New York, April 21.—A committee representing minority stockholders of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway company, recently placed in the hands of receivers at a meeting held here tonight arranged to send out a letter asking the cooperation of the stockholders in a plan to terminate the receivership. N. L. Anster of Boston is chairman of the committee.

The letter states that the purpose of the committee "will be to rehabilitate the property, take it out of the hands of the old management and place it in hands that will operate it to the welfare of the property and its owners, and not as a foothold for stock market operations."

Receivers Would Cooperate

Was Vice President of Oregon Short Line and Salt Lake Route

W. H. Bancroft, first vice president of the Salt Lake Route, vice president of the Oregon Short Line and for many years general manager of the Oregon Short Line, died at his home in Salt Lake at 9:30 o'clock on Thursday night. He had been gradually failing for several weeks and Wednesday morning suffered a stroke of apoplexy from which he could not recover. He was stricken at about 7 o'clock in the morning while taking a bath and his age and weakened condition made it apparent from the first that the stroke would prove fatal. He did not regain consciousness.

A MODERN EVE

The season's greatest musical comedy triumph, "A Modern Eve," which Mort H. Singer, imported from Berlin and presented in Chicago to record breaking audiences for two hundred and fifty performances, will be the attraction at the Lyric theatre Saturday, May 1, with special matinee at 2:30 p. m.

Because of the many clever numbers requiring girl ensembles, the large beauty chorus attracts more than ordinary interest in "A Modern Eve," and Frank Smithson, in staging the musical comedy, has provided the chorus with several lively and novel dances. The popular tune of the year, "Goodbye Everybody," a waltz by Jean Gilbert, who collaborated with Victor Hollander on the music of "A Modern Eve" is one of the many remarkable song hits included in the score of "A Modern Eve." Among the other effective numbers are "Hello, Sweetheart," "Rita, My Margaryta," "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love?" and "You're Such a Lonesome Moon Tonight."
